

Introduction to the new Work Choice Programme

From 25 October 2010 a new supported employment programme called Work Choice will replace the WORKSTEP programme.

What does this mean for you?

The Work Choice programme will continue to provide you with the support you need in the work place.

Will my job and/or place of work change?

We don't expect your job or place of work to change. If there are to be any changes your WORKSTEP Support Adviser will discuss these with you before they happen.

What can I expect from Work Choice?

Your employment support will continue and there will be the opportunity to review your support needs on a regular basis.

The Work Choice provider will agree with you a support package tailored to meet your individual needs.

Do I need to do anything now?

No, you don't need to do anything now. Your WORKSTEP Support Adviser will talk to you over the next few months to give you further information.

Where can I go for more information?

You can contact your WORKSTEP Support Adviser if you have any questions or would like more information.
