Introduction

This leaflet tells you what the social security agreement between the United Kingdom (UK) and Barbados means for you.

It tells you about insurance and contributions, what UK benefits you may get and how and where you can claim them. If you want information about Barbadian benefits, you should contact the Barbados authorities at the address on page 23.

The leaflet also tells you what medical treatment you can get.

It only gives you general help. It does not cover every possible situation. You must not treat it as a complete and authoritative statement of the law.

Every effort has been made to ensure that the contents of this leaflet are correct at the date shown on the cover. However, the leaflet does not include any references to changes in the law made after that date. In the event that anything in this leaflet is different from a provision of the agreement between the UK and Barbados, or any other legal provision, the terms of the agreement or provision will apply.

The agreement means that you will be treated in the same way as people living in the country to which you go in respect of the matters covered by the agreement. It also means that when you move from one country to another, you will be able to keep rights to some of the benefits that are based on the insurance you have paid.

In the agreement

United Kingdom means England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands of Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, Sark, Herm and Jethou.

However, the insurance schemes in Jersey and Guernsey are not the same as in the UK itself. This means that some of the information in this leaflet may not apply to you if you are covered by those schemes. Ask at a social security office in either Jersey or Guernsey if you want to know how the agreement works in your case.

If you are going to Barbados, let your Jobcentre Plus or social security office and the Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle (at the address on page 22) know when you are going to leave, and give them your address in Barbados. If you change your address later, let them know the new one too.

When you come back to the UK, tell your Jobcentre Plus or social security office and the Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle (at the address on page 22) as soon as you can that you are back. Then, if anything needs to be done about your contributions or your benefit rights, it can be done straightaway. If you do not tell them at once, any benefit claim you make might be affected.

Things you should know about when you read this leaflet

Some of the sections in this leaflet tell you that if you have insurance in one country, it may help you to qualify for benefit in the other country. When this is the case, your insurance record in one country is never transferred to the other country. For example, if your UK insurance record does not qualify you for benefits, we will contact the Barbados authorities to get details of your Barbadian insurance. But your Barbadian insurance record will stay with the Barbados authorities.

If we have to contact the Barbados authorities about your insurance, it will help very much if we can tell them your Barbadian National Insurance number. It is in your interests, therefore, to keep a record of this information in case we have to ask you for it. Other details which could help us to deal with your claim quickly, but which are not always needed, are:

- names and addresses of employers;
- periods of employment;
- salary/wage numbers; and
- employment references.

Contributions when working in Barbados

Working in Barbados for a UK employer for less than three years

You and your employer must pay UK Class 1 contributions on all your pay while you are working in Barbados if:

- you are already insured in the UK;
- and your UK employer sends you to work in Barbados;
- and you are paid by your UK employer or by someone else on behalf of your UK employer;
- and you are not likely to work in Barbados for more than three years.

You will also have to pay UK Class 1 contributions if you are working in another country for a UK employer while continuing to pay contributions to the UK, and your UK employer sends you directly from the other country to work in Barbados.

During this time you and your UK employer will not have to pay contributions to the Barbadian scheme. To make sure that you are not asked to pay, your employer must apply for a certificate of liability under the UK scheme. They should ask the Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle for the certificate. The address is on page 22.

When your employer asks for the certificate, we need to know:

- your full name;
- your address in the UK;
- your date of birth;
- your UK National Insurance number;
- your employer's name and address;
- your address in Barbados;
- the names and addresses of the people who represent your employer in Barbados;
- the date you will start work in Barbados;
- if your UK employer will be paying you all the time you are in Barbados; and
- the date you expect your work in Barbados to end.

We will send two copies of the certificate to your UK employer. One is for you to keep. The other is for the people who represent your employer in Barbados.

You and your employer should look at the important notes on page 3 of the certificate.

Employed in the UK and Barbados, and resident in the UK

If you are employed in the UK and Barbados for the same period, and remain ordinarily resident in the UK, you and your UK employer will have to pay Class 1 contributions. You will not have to pay into the Barbadian scheme. To make sure that you are not asked to pay, ask the Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle for a certificate or letter confirming your UK NI liability. The address is on page 22

Employed in the UK, and self-employed in Barbados for the same period

If you are employed in the UK and self-employed in Barbados for the same period, you and your UK employer will be liable to pay Class 1 contributions. You will not have to pay into the Barbadian scheme. To make sure you are not asked to pay, ask the Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle for a certificate/letter confirming your UK NI liability. The address is on page 22.

Other types of work in Barbados

If your work in Barbados is different from the work described in the three previous sections on NI contributions, and is not covered by the special arrangements noted in the next section on this page, or the section on page 9 referring to self-employed contributions, you will not have to pay UK Class 1 or Class 2 contributions. But you may have to pay into the Barbadian scheme. It is important that you get in touch with the Barbados authorities as soon as you start working there. You will find the address on page 23. They will be able to tell you what you have to do about national insurance in Barbados and how you can become a member of their scheme. They will also tell you what you must pay and what sort of benefits you will get.

Employed abroad in exceptional circumstances

It may be that when you go to work in Barbados you are not liable to pay UK contributions because you do not satisfy the conditions outlined in the above paragraphs. If you feel that the circumstances of your employment are such that you should be allowed to pay, please contact us. In exceptional circumstances we will contact the Barbados authorities to request that you be allowed to remain UK-insured.

Special contribution arrangements

There may be special arrangements for your insurance if you:

- travel in your work for a company, firm or group that carries goods or passengers;
- work in the government service of the UK or Barbados;
- are employed in a diplomatic mission or consular post of the UK or Barbados;
- work privately for an official of a diplomatic mission or consular post of the UK or Barbados; or
- work for a public corporation of the UK or Barbados.

The Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle will tell you more about these arrangements if you work for a UK employer. If you work for a Barbadian employer, get in touch with the Barbados authorities. You can find the address on page 23.

UK voluntary contributions in Barbados

If you are abroad and do not have to pay UK Class 1 or Class 2 contributions, you may wish to think about paying UK voluntary contributions. Leaflet NI38, *Social security abroad, tells you about this.

However, you may have to pay Barbadian contributions too. If you are trying to decide if it is worthwhile paying UK voluntary contributions as well, see the sections on Incapacity Benefit and Maternity Allowance (page 11), State Pension (page 14) and Widows' benefits and bereavement benefits (page 15), before you decide.

Please note – payment of voluntary contributions cannot be made to both schemes for the same period. You may only contribute voluntarily to one scheme at a time.

The Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle will tell you what these arrangements mean for your own social security position. You can get in touch with them at the address on page 22.

Contributions when working in the UK

Working in the UK for a Barbadian employer for less than three years

There is an arrangement like the one described in the section headed 'Working in Barbados for a UK employer for less than three years' on page 6. The Barbados authorities will give you and your employer a certificate showing that you continue to pay contributions to the Barbadian scheme while you work in the UK. If an officer from the Inland Revenue asks why UK contributions are not being paid for you, show the certificate.

Employed in the UK and Barbados, and resident in Barbados

If you are employed in the UK and Barbados for the same period, and remain ordinarily resident in Barbados, you and your Barbadian employer will have to pay contributions to the Barbadian scheme. You will not have to pay into the UK scheme. To make sure that you are not asked to pay in the UK, ask the Barbados authorities for a letter or certificate confirming that you have to pay into the Barbadian scheme. The address is on page 23.

Employed in Barbados, and self-employed in the UK for the same period

If you are employed in Barbados and self-employed in the UK for the same period, you will not have to pay contributions to the UK scheme. To make sure that you are not asked to pay in the UK, ask the Barbados authorities for a letter or certificate confirming your liability to the Barbadian scheme. The address is on page 23.

Other types of work in the UK

If you have come from Barbados to work in the UK:

and you are not in one of the types of job listed in the section on Special contribution arrangements on page 7;

and you do not have to pay Barbadian contributions under the arrangements you can read about in the section headed 'Working in the UK for a Barbadian employer for less than three years' on page 8;

and you are not covered by the section on Self-employed contributions, below, you will normally have to pay UK contributions as soon as you start work here. Your employer should arrange this for you.

Statutory Sick Pay and Statutory Maternity Pay that your employer pays

Statutory Sick Pay (SSP) is paid by employers for up to 28 weeks to employees unable to work because they are sick. If you work for a UK employer and your earnings are on average at least equal to the lower earnings limit in the appropriate reference period, you can get SSP while you are in Barbados. Such entitlement may continue even if your employer ceases to be liable to pay Class 1 contributions during your period of entitlement to SSP.

Statutory Maternity Pay (SMP) is paid by employers to help women take time off work when they expect a baby. If you work for a UK employer and have done so for at least 26 weeks and your earnings are on average at least equal to the lower earnings limit in the appropriate reference period, you can get SMP while you are in Barbados. SMP is paid for up to 26 weeks. The rate of benefit depends on your average weekly earnings.

If you do not work for an employer or you are not entitled to SSP or SMP for another reason, but you are insured under the UK scheme, you may get UK short-term Incapacity Benefit or Maternity Allowance instead. The section headed Incapacity Benefit and Maternity Allowance (on page 11) will tell you how short-term Incapacity Benefit or Maternity Allowance can be paid in Barbados.

Self-employed contributions

If you are self-employed in the UK, and not employed or self-employed in Barbados, you will have to pay UK contributions, unless you have been told you do not have to because you do not earn enough. Leaflet CA02, National Insurance contributions for self-employed people with small earnings, will tell you more about this. You can get a copy from your Jobcentre Plus or social security office. If you are over pension age (65 years for a man, 60 years for a woman), you will not have to pay either (see the section on State Pension, page 14, for information on State Pension age).

If you are self-employed in the UK and Barbados and you are ordinarily resident in the UK, you will have to pay Class 2 contributions and Class 4 contributions, if appropriate, to the UK scheme. You will not have to pay contributions to the Barbadian scheme. To make sure that you are not asked to pay, ask the Inland Revenue Centre for Non Residents in Newcastle for a certificate or letter confirming your UK NI liability. The address is on page 22.

If you are self-employed in the UK and Barbados, but you are ordinarily resident in Barbados, you will have to pay social security contributions to the Barbadian scheme. You will not have to pay contributions to the UK scheme. To make sure that you are not asked to pay, ask the Barbados authorities for a letter or certificate confirming that you have to pay into the Barbadian scheme. The address is on page 23.

UK benefits the agreement covers

- Incapacity Benefit and Maternity Allowance;
- Benefits for industrial injuries and diseases;
- State Pension;
- Widows' benefits and bereavement benefits;
- Guardian's Allowance; and
- Child Benefit.

Incapacity Benefit and Maternity Allowance

Incapacity Benefit can be paid to people who cannot work because they are sick or disabled and are too young to get a UK pension – under 60 for women and under 65 for men.

Incapacity Benefit is paid at three basic rates:

- short-term (lower rate) for the first 28 weeks of sickness;
- short-term (higher rate) from the 29th to the 52nd week of sickness; and
- long-term rate from the 53rd week of sickness.

Maternity Allowance is paid to help women take time off work when they are expecting a baby. It can be paid for up to 26 weeks. To qualify, you must have been employed or self-employed in at least 26 of the 66 weeks before your baby is expected. The rate of benefit depends on your average weekly earnings.

Short-term Incapacity Benefit and Maternity Allowance If you are going from the UK to Barbados

You may be able to get short-term Incapacity Benefit while you are in Barbados if:

- you become unable to work when you are employed in Barbados while you have to be insured under the UK scheme;
- or you need treatment straightaway for your condition while you are staying in Barbados. If you do, you must get a certificate that says you cannot work and also why. Ask the doctor or hospital for one and send it to The Pension Service at Tyneview Park. You will find the address on page 22. You must send the certificate within six days of the first day you are ill. If your claim is late, you may lose benefit;
- or you already get benefit in the UK and are authorised by the Department for Work and Pensions to go back to Barbados, or to go to live in Barbados; country you were last insured in before you qualified for benefit.

Long-term Incapacity Benefit Payment of UK long-term Incapacity Benefit in Barbados

If you are getting UK long-term Incapacity Benefit, the agreement with Barbados allows you to carry on getting it if you go to Barbados. Also, if you are in Barbados and have been receiving short-term Incapacity Benefit for a year, you may be entitled to receive long-term Incapacity Benefit. But you can only receive long-term Incapacity Benefit in Barbados if you are likely to be permanently incapable of work.

You cannot get any type of sickness benefit from both countries for the same period of illness at the same time. If you have a separate right to benefit from the UK and Barbados, you will only get benefit from the country you were last insured in when your illness began.

If this means that you are only entitled to UK long-term Incapacity Benefit and the rate of Invalidity Benefit you would have received from Barbados is higher, they may pay the difference.

Benefits for industrial injuries and diseases

If you have an industrial accident or contract an industrial disease while you are working in Barbados but are still insured under the UK scheme, you will be treated as if the accident happened or you contracted the disease in the UK. Any benefit payable in respect of that accident or disease can be paid in Barbados, except Reduced Earnings Allowance (REA), which is not payable.

In the same way, if you have an industrial accident or contract an industrial disease while you are working in the UK, but are still insured under the Barbadian scheme, you will be treated as if the accident happened or you contracted the disease in Barbados. Any benefit payable in respect of that accident or disease can be paid in the UK.

If you have an accident while you are travelling for your work from one country to the other, you will be treated as if the accident had happened in the country you had been insured in at the time.

If you contract an industrial disease, and you have worked in both countries doing the sort of work that put you at risk of that disease, the rules of the country you worked in last before you were found to have the disease will decide your benefit.

If you contract an industrial disease, and you have worked in only one of the countries doing the sort of work that put you at risk of that disease, the rules of that country will decide your benefit, unless the disease was made worse by work that you did later in the other country.

If you are receiving benefit for an industrial disease from one country, and the disease was made worse by work you did in the other country, the other country will decide whether you should get any extra benefit.

If you are getting benefit, other than a pension, from Barbados because of an industrial accident or disease, you cannot get UK Incapacity Benefit or Maternity Allowance at the same time.

If you have a separate right to benefit from the UK and Barbados, you will only be paid the benefit by the country where you were last employed.

UK Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit

UK Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit is payable in Barbados at the same rate as if you were living in the UK.

State Pension

State Pension age

State Pension ages in the UK are at present 65 for a man and 60 for a woman. But over a 10-year period, starting on 6 April 2010, State Pension age for women will change from 60 to 65.

How pension from one country is paid if you live in the other

Since 1 April 1992, UK State Pension is payable in Barbados at the same rate as if you were living in the UK. Before that date, the pension will have to be paid:

either at the rate in payment when you left the UK;

or the rate payable when you first became entitled to pension (whichever is later).

In the same way, you will get the same rate of Barbadian pension in the UK as you would if you were in Barbados.

Insured in both the UK and Barbados

If you have enough insurance under each country's scheme to satisfy the contribution conditions and qualify for a pension, you can get a pension from each country.

If you do not have enough insurance for a UK pension, the agreement allows the UK to treat Barbadian insurance as UK insurance. This may give you entitlement to a UK pension.

How much you get when we use your Barbadian insurance will depend on the length of the insurance periods in each country's scheme.

UK State Pension calculation

First, we will work out how much pension you would get if all your insurance had been paid in the UK. If all your insurance would be enough for at least some UK pension, we work out how much of that comes from UK insurance.

If you had paid five years' UK insurance and 10 years' Barbadian insurance, we would work out how much pension you would have got if you had been paying UK insurance for 15 years. But because you have only actually been paying UK insurance for five years, we would pay you one-third (five-fifteenths) of that pension. This is only a general description of how a pension is calculated in these circumstances. Other special rules may apply. To find out more, contact The Pension Service at Tyneview Park. You will find their address on page 22.

Even if we use your UK and Barbadian insurance, you still may not have paid enough contributions for a pension. In this case you will not get a pension.

The Barbados authorities will combine your UK insurance with your Barbadian insurance in the same way if you do not qualify for a Barbadian pension.

Widows' benefits and bereavement benefits

Introduction of bereavement benefits

Bereavement benefits were introduced from 9 April 2001 to replace widows' benefits for those bereaved after that date. Widowed fathers with qualifying children who were bereaved before 9 April 2001 can now make a claim for Widowed Parent's Allowance after that date. Women who were already receiving Widow's Benefit before that date will continue to do so for as long as they satisfy the current entitlement conditions.

How widows' benefits, bereavement benefits or survivor's benefits from one country are paid if you live in the other

UK widows' benefits or bereavement benefits are payable in Barbados at the same rate as if you were living in the UK.

In the same way, you will get the same rate of Barbadian Survivor's Benefit in the UK as you would if you were in Barbados.

If UK Widow's Benefit or Bereavement Benefit would be payable if a qualifying child were in the UK, it will be paid if the child is in Barbados.

If your husband or wife was insured under the insurance schemes of both the UK and Barbados

If your husband or wife did not pay enough contributions in the UK for you to qualify for a UK Widow's Benefit or Bereavement Benefit, we may take into account their Barbadian contributions in a similar way as a person's contributions may be taken into account for State Pension. The section 'Insured in both the UK and Barbados' under the heading State Pension (page 14) will tell you about this.

If your husband or wife did not pay enough contributions in Barbados for you to qualify for Barbadian Survivor's Benefit, the Barbados authorities may take into account his or her UK contributions.

Guardian's Allowance

If you are looking after somebody else's child after one or both of the child's parents have died, you may be entitled to UK Guardian's Allowance. Any time either of the child's parents spent in Barbados can be used to help your claim. You can be paid UK Guardian's Allowance for any time you or the child are in Barbados, providing it would have been payable if you or the child had been ordinarily resident in the UK.

If you wish to claim Barbadian Orphan's Benefit in Barbados, any insurance that either of the child's parents paid in the UK can be used to help your claim. You can be paid Barbadian Orphan's Benefit for any time you or the child are in the UK.

Child Benefit

UK Child Benefit can be paid if you are responsible for a child or young person in any week.

If you are getting Child Benefit and you go to Barbados but you are not leaving the UK for good, you can usually be paid UK Child Benefit for the first eight weeks you are away.

The Agreement with Barbados may also allow you to get Child Benefit at other times if:

the child you are claiming for is also in Barbados;

and you (or your husband or wife if you go with them) are in Barbados and still insured under the UK scheme, and you would have got Child Benefit if both you and your child were in the UK.

Benefits for dependants

You may be paid extra benefit for someone you have to look after – a dependant. If you are, and the agreement covers the benefit you are getting, the extra can be paid if your dependant is in either the UK or Barbados.

From 6 April 2003 increases for dependent children, known as Child Dependency Increases (CDIs), will no longer be paid with widows' benefits, bereavement benefits and State Pensions. If you were entitled to a CDI on 5 April 2003 you will continue to receive this increase for as long as the conditions for getting CDI are satisfied. But since 6 April 2003 it is no longer possible to make a new claim for an increase in your benefit.

Claiming your benefit

There are time limits for claiming benefits. Contact the appropriate office or organisation without delay.

If you want to claim Statutory Sick Pay or Statutory Maternity Pay get in touch with your employer or your local Inland Revenue National Insurance Contributions Office. It is listed in the business numbers section of the phone book.

If you want to claim other UK benefits

Contact your local Jobcentre Plus or social security office. For your nearest office, look for the display advert under 'Jobcentre Plus' or 'social security office' in the business numbers section of the phone book.

If you want to claim UK benefits when you are in Barbados

Contact The Pension Service at Tyneview Park. You will find their address on page 22.

If you want to claim Barbadian benefits

Contact the Barbados authorities. You can find their address on page 23.

Medical services

There is a health agreement between the UK and Barbados. It covers people who are ordinarily resident in the UK or Barbados, and temporarily visit the other country. Visitors can get immediately necessary treatment in the country they visit on the same terms as it is available to local residents.

The National Health Service (NHS) only applies in the UK. You cannot get any money back from the NHS for any medical help you pay for in Barbados, which has its own health service.

In Barbados

Under the health agreement, UK residents on temporary visits to Barbados are eligible for emergency healthcare under the state health scheme on the same terms as Barbadian residents. British citizens should show their UK passport. Nationals of other countries who are resident in the UK should show their NHS medical card.

In Barbados, hospital inpatient treatment is free of charge. There are no state general practitioner services as such, but there is a network of polyclinics on the island which provide an equivalent service free of charge. There is also a free ambulance service.

If you are going to Barbados for three months or more, please send your NHS medical card, and your family's cards, to your Primary Care Trust. If you live in Scotland, send the card to the Area Health Board. In Northern Ireland, send it to the Central Services Agency. Their address is on the card. Or you can give it to the Immigration Officer as you leave the UK.

If you have lost your medical card, please tell your local Primary Care Trust, Area Health Board or the Central Services Agency:

- your name;
- your address;
- your date of birth;
- the name and address of your UK doctor;
- your National Health Service number, if you know it; and
- when you are going to leave the UK.

You can get their address from the business numbers section of the phone book or from a post office.

In the United Kingdom (England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland)

Temporary visits to the UK

If you live in Barbados and need immediately necessary treatment for a condition that arises during a visit to the UK, you can get free NHS treatment under the health agreement at a family doctor's surgery. Immediately necessary hospital treatment will also be provided without charge. You will have to pay the same charges as UK residents for emergency dental treatment and prescribed medicines.

The agreement does not cover routine, non-emergency treatment from a GP or dentist nor routine hospital treatment. You will normally have to pay for these services, as well as for any medicines you need.

If you come to the UK specifically for medical treatment, you will have to pay for it. You will not get your money back.

Living permanently in the UK

If you have come to live permanently in the UK, you can get the full range of treatments available under the NHS. These are all generally free of charge, although there are some charges for medicines, dental treatment, glasses and some medical appliances.

You can approach any doctor and ask to be registered on their list for NHS treatment.

In the Isle of Man

If you want to know about medical services in the Isle of Man, please contact the Department of Health and Social Security in the Isle of Man at the address on page 21.

In the Channel Islands

If you want to know about medical services in Jersey, please contact the States of Jersey Department of Health at the address on page 21.

If you want to know about medical services in Guernsey (including Alderney, Sark, Herm and Jethou), please contact the States of Guernsey Board of Health at the address on page 21.

Where to get help and advice

General information

If you wish to contact any agency whose address is given in this section, please supply the following information, if possible:

- your full name;
- your full address;
- your date of birth; and
- your UK National Insurance (NI) number or NHS number. A UK NI number should be quoted, if known, for UK benefit or contribution enquiries. For medical/ health enquiries, an NHS number should be quoted, if known.
